AASM National Office
All-new for 2016, this half-day seminar will provide attendees with the tools necessary to expand and elevate their sleep practices through the use of telemedicine and an integrated care model.

Telemedicine:
Faculty will review the technical and regulatory requirements along with the steps for evaluating, selecting and implementing a telemedicine program. Instituting a telemedicine program will expand your practice by removing the barriers between you and your patients.

Integrated Care Model:
Faculty will review the steps for implementing a positive airway pressure (PAP) management program in the sleep practice. Instituting a PAP management program within your sleep practice will increase physician oversight of care, improve quality of care and patient outcomes, and position the sleep practice to adapt to upcoming changes in healthcare.
