

Andrew Spector, MD, is an associate professor of neurology at the Duke University School of Medicine. He attended medical school at the University of Michigan and completed his residency in neurology at Mayo Clinic Jacksonville and his sleep medicine fellowship at Boston Medical Center. Dr. Spector joined the Duke faculty in 2013 and has served as the vice chair of Inclusion, Diversity and Empowerment since 2018. He chaired the AASM's Diversity, Equity and Inclusion Committee from 2019-2022 and was a member of the AAN's Special Commission on Racism, Inequity and Social Justice. He is a member of the AAN's Diversity Officers Subcommittee and was a co-founder of the AAN's Underrepresented in Neurology Section and the Society of Black Neurologists.