

John Park, MD, is an associate professor of medicine in the division of pulmonary and critical care medicine at Mayo Clinic in Rochester, Minnesota. He is the associate program director for the critical care medicine fellowship at the Mayo Clinic. Dr. Park has served on several committees within the AASM and most recently served as the chair of the Lifelong Learning Development Committee where they created and updated MOC-type questions for the AASM membership and sleep medicine fellowships across the country.