

Joyce K. Lee-Iannotti, MD is the Director of the Sleep Disorders Center at Banner University Medical Center Phoenix and Associate Professor of Neurology at the University of Arizona College of Medicine, Phoenix, AZ.

Dr. Lee-Iannotti received her medical degree from the University of South Carolina in Columbia, SC her hometown, followed by her neurology training and sleep fellowship training at the Cleveland Clinic Foundation. She then completed her stroke fellowship at the Mayo Clinic. She is triple board certified in general neurology, sleep medicine, and vascular neurology.

She currently serves as the program director of the sleep fellowship medicine program at the University of Arizona, in conjunction with the Phoenix VA Medical Center. She is the principal investigator and co-PI of several clinical trials in sleep medicine, stroke, and COVID. Her research interests involve REM sleep behavior disorder, narcolepsy, neuro-COVID syndromes, and the overlap of sleep apnea and stroke. She is also heavily interested in medical education.